* From அடப்பம் (Adappam) = A barber's case of razors and shaving apparatus.

† The correct classification is 6: 4.

‡ A man of low caste in Malabar, who lives under the protection of a Rajah or religious establishment (Wilson).

§ One who tends sheep.

‖ This is a very unusual application of the term "Advaitam" which is chiefly used to signify that sect of Bráhmans, which holds that the human soul is one with the Deity.

* The head of a Matam; a high priest classified under main head 11 (Mixed Castes), as he may be the high priest of any caste; and, as "Sanniasi," has been thus classified.

† Attached to or serving in a Matam.

‡ A dealer in cattle (bullocks and cows).

‖ Is the name of Mariamman, a well known village goddess, and this, as a caste name, probably means an officiating priest at such a temple.

§ Literally, "central country."

¶ Náikkan, though often erroneously used for Náidu, is quite distinct from it. The latter is the proper cognomen of the Balija, a Telugu speaking caste, whilst the former is an affix to the name of a class of Vanniars—all Tamulians.

* Chettiyán means "weaver" (Dr. Gundert). In North Malabar senior male members of a few families among Chaliers are known as Muthu Chettiyán, Elaya Chettiyán, &c. These are considered to be honorific terms.

† One of the Iluvar castes (Dr. Gundert).

‡ The former of the two means excommunicated from the caste, and the latter is the term applied to the wives and females of the Músad caste.

* Pot makers.

† The latter word "Aduthavar," literally means "relation." The secondary meaning of the word is barber and washerman of each caste as necessary for many ceremonies (Dr. Gundert). The occupation now generally followed by this caste is that of a hair dresser or barber. Hence the present classification. There are Adthavars for all the low castes, as Thiers, Asáries, &c.

* Dr. Gundert defines this caste as "workmen in leather." Hence the present classification. He further says that this caste is equivalent to Tolkollan, which caste Dr. Cornish has classified as 6 : 8, however, the caste under reference is classified as 17 . 2 on the strength of Dr. Gundert's definition. The classification of Tolkollan was allowed to stand, the rule observed having been that where a classification was found in Dr. Cornish's, that was to be adhered to.

† The term given to the females of the Eradi, Nedungadi, and such other castes.

* From the Bombay Returns and from Dr. Wilson's Glossary, this caste seems synonymous with Dásari.

† Classed by Dr. Sherring among Toddy-drawers (Volume III, page 156).

‡ This classification was made on referring to the Schedule and finding that the occupation of Castes so returned was working in leather "Mádiga"—Shoemaker, though included by Dr. Wilson among the "Edagai" or left-hand castes, is only one of them, the others being "Pánchála," "Béri Shetti," "Dévánga," "Gániga," "Golla," &c.

§ Dr. Gundert explains this term to mean a bricklayer, from which Dr. Cornish's classification seems wrong.

‖ A fisherman (Dr. Wilson).

¶ From Gála, a fish-hook (Dr. Wilson). Their occupation, as returned in the Schedule, is fishing:

 Dr. Cornish's Malayalam List, but Dr. Sherring classifies it as a sub-division of Okkaliga.
